Non-Profit Organization U.S. Postage PAID San Francisco, CA Permit No. 454 TIME VALUE Deliver by 3/28/2014 Federation, was attended by over 800 Union delegates from all over the state of California. The theme of the conference was 'Working People Standing Together."

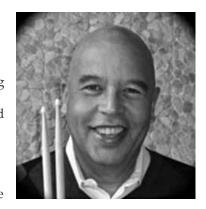

Connie Leyva announced that this would be her last Conference as President because she is running for State Senator. She wants to go to the State Capital and let them know that Labor is in the House!

Art Pulaski, Executive Secretary-Treasurer of the Federation quoted from Capital in the Twenty First Century, a new book by French economist, Thomas Piketty, which informs us that wealth is concentrated by simple arithmetic and compound interest. When the rate of return on capital exceeds the growth rate of the economy and income of its people, there can be such outcomes as empire, colonialism, feudalism, slavery, and the underbelly of industrial capitalism. We are reminded that the top 1% of the population holds 20% of the country's wealth. Mr. Picketty argues that this can only be reversed by a global tax on corporations and a higher tax rate for the super rich. As we know, there is also an argument to the contrary. Pulaski presented the book to Governor Jerry Brown during the evening's keynote address.

The 76 year-old Governor gave a highly energetic speech thanking the Unions for their support during the budget crisis. Governor Brown announced that he is ready to govern for four more years. California has come from a deficit of over $6 billion to a budget surplus of $1.5 billion. Governor Brown cautioned that we are not completely out the the woods yet. The Governor wants to move the Hi-Speed Rail project forward even though it may take as long as a generation to span the state.

Some of the briefing sessions at the conference included "Changing the Narrative — Bringing the message of Unions to the offense." The negative messages used to describe unions as lazy, overpaid, entitled, etc. are hammered into the publics' psyche. We need to work hard to counteract that idea with our own narrative. We are hard-workers, builders of the middle class, innovators in work place safety. Essentially we are, "Working People Standing Together"

The organization "Next Up" gave a great presentation on "Engaging young people in the Union movement" The AFL-CIO has a goal of creating 150 youth groups among unions by the year 2021. They believe our young people are stereotyped as being disengaged and impudent. The same things were said about youth in 1240 A.D. Research has shown that 82 % of young people believe that they can make a difference! The AFL-CIO agreed to have a youth representative on their Board of Directors.

The following day, labor councils were able to meet with the Legislators in the Capital Building. This is where we were able to address issues of concern and support for bills that are currently in the

by Beth Zare, Local 6 Secretary-Treasurer

- 1. Pay your dues on time: This sounds simple but many members get stuck paying fines, fees and back quarters just because they didn't pay their dues in a timely fashion. We have attempted to facilitate payments by accepting credit cards and creating an online shopping cart for dues. Suspension occurs after missing one quarter's payment and incurs a $5 late fee. Being dropped is even more costly and you will still be responsible for paying the quarters you missed. In other words, it pays to pay on time
- 2. Resign during the current quarter: If you wish to resign, please do so during the quarter in which you are paid. Resignation must be done in writing during the current quarter but can be as easy as sending an email to bethz@afm6.org. Just include the date you wish to resign. Upon rejoining you will only be charged a reinstatement fee. In other words, plan ahead to avoid the charges mentioned above.
- 3. Know your rights: Being a union member has many advantages. Representation, legal council, grievance support, access to instrument insurance, liability insurance, strike benefits, and Petrillo fund benefits for injured musicians are a few of the benefits. You can't be fired for union activity. In other words, you are protected.

- 4. Be of service: Being a union member goes beyond paying your dues. If you truly seek change don't shy away from volunteering for a standing committee (see list on page 2), labor council representative, CBA steward or running for an elected position. We have unfilled delegate positions and labor council representative openings. In other words, we will find a place for you to serve.
- 5. Be kind to your colleagues: This may sound silly but fighting amongst ourselves only weakens us as a whole. People who work together for years will invariably have their ups and downs. The problem with publically berating a co-worker or worse yet, taking your problem to management, is that it erodes our strength as a whole. As soon as we turn on each other the greater good is not served. In other words, solve your problems internally.
- 6. Don't bad mouth the union: You are the union. It isn't uncommon to hear someone say, "Why should I join the union?" or "What has the union ever done for me?" We all comprise the membership and the union is what we make of it. Now more than ever unions are under attack and we need to stand strongly together, no matter what our political views. In other words, be part of the solution, not part of the problem.

Recording Work

Local 6 is trying to stem the tide of non-union recording being done in our jurisdiction. Allowing such work to take place unchallenged can and will undermine our significant efforts to bring more union recording work to the Bay Area. Therefore, when receiving offers of recording work, all members should be sure to ask if it is being done under a union contract. Do not agree to offer your services for non-union recording projects. Members doing so are subject to board-imposed fines or expulsion. Think long-term, and think collectively!

legislature. I spent over thirty minutes each with Senator Jerry Hill, Assembly members Rich Gordon, Kevin Mullin, Phil Ting, Tom Ammiano, Speaker John Perez and (as was revealed a few days later) the infamous Senator Leland Yee.

AB 1839 is the current bill that is most relevant to musicians. Sponsored by 59 state legislators, the bill would expand tax credits to film and television production that is produced within California. In 2012, only one big budget film was shot entirely in California, and in 2013, just 39 of 137 one-hour television series were filmed here. This bill will expand the current $100 million allotment of tax credits to production of motion pictures and qualified expenditures for television pilot episodes. These tax credits would INCLUDE expenditures relating to music scoring and music editing. The bill unanimously passed the first hurdle in the Assembly committee on March 25. For further information on this 17 page bill visit www.leginfo.ca.gov.

I was asked by the San Francisco Labor Council to speak and urge the legislators to support Assembly bill AB 1897. This bill would insure that employers are held accountable for wage theft and other abuses when they use staffing agencies and other labor contractors to supply workers. Some of our largest corporations use this to deny work benefits, and when people are unjustly fired they can evade responsibility by blaming these 2nd and 3rd parties.

Another important bill in the legislature is AB 1522. This bill would guarantee every California worker paid time off to recover from illness, care for a sick family member, or bond with a new baby. The bill also prevents employers from retaliation when people seek these benefits. These bills are only a few of the highlights of the 2014 legislative agenda. For further information on pending bills and events in the legislature please visit the California Labor Federation website: www.californialabor.org.

As working musicians, we often discount our value as we pursue the love of our art. This annual Legislative Conference reminds us that we are all part of a bigger picture. In order to advocate for better working conditions and higher pay we need to remain connected to our brothers and sisters in the entire labor movement.

Union Family Series: Red & Wally Malone

by Alex Walsh

Red and Wally Malone are a father and son union dynamo. After a long career as a jazz, Dixieland, and big band drummer, Red served as Secretary-Treasurer and Vice-President of the now merged Santa Cruz Local 346. Wally, bassist extraordinaire, followed in his father's footsteps by serving as Board Member, Secretary-Treasurer and President for Local 153, and as a Trustee for the Reno Local 368. He now serves as the Western Field Representative for the AFM. They are both very proud of their union heritage.

RED

When Red was ten years old, he fell in love with three things--music, magic, and archery--and made a living at all three. He joined Local 60 (Pittsburgh, PA) when one had to take a test to be in the union. The first job he had they took his sticks away and told him to play the bass drum. "I could read but I wasn't a good set player," said Red. "But then I learned to play a set of drums, and that was a lot of fun."

In the 1950s, Red played in clubs that were run by the mafia. They would tell the big stars where to go after their regular shows. Every Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, people like Sammy Davis, Jr., Sinatra, and Tony Bennett, would go to the Allegany Beneficial Association, a private club where Red worked. "It was one of the typical clubs with a guy at the door that filled the whole door," said Red. "We'd start at 2:00 in the morning and go until 4:00. We never knew who we were going to play for until we got there. They'd come in with their music, hand it to us and say, 'fake it'. That's where I really learned sight reading."

Red eventually started his own archery company, Redhead Archery. When he found out his business partners were cheating him, he moved his wife and seven children to nearby Harrisburg, and joined the Ben Pearson Archery Company, where he helped design their first bow, the Palimino. Red says it was such a good bow that within a year every top archer in the world was shooting a Palimino.

"All my kids shot, and I took each of them hunting," said Red. "One year I made the mistake of taking the wife. When she saw her first deer, at 40 yards, she nailed it through the heart. 'You always said it was so hard, but this was easy' she said. I never took her again."

Red also taught music, privately and in the public schools. By now the Dixieland revival had swept the country, and Red joined his first Dixieland band, The New Orleans 6. They were very successful and went on to release an album locally. One of his other regular bands included Tom Darlington, His Electric Violin, and His Philadelphia Musically Yours Orchestra. "I don't know how he got it all on a business card," said Red. "If you ever saw that band, there wasn't a sheet of music onstage. We played twice a year for the mafia / Liquor Dealers Association, in New Jersey. The boss would ask us to play a tune, and we'd play it, no music."

WALLY

"I joined the union when you didn't have to take the test anymore," said Wally. "I started playing late, as a senior in high school, and learned by lifting bass parts off of records by ear. I was into R&B, all the hits of the day--Wilson Picket, Otis Redding, James Brown, Aretha Franklin, Booker T and the MG's-that was where I came from musically." Wally eventually had his own band called The Fourmations. When they started playing professionally, his Dad

Wally in his first travelling band, Loren Peck and the Blues Scandal, 1968 said, "If you're going to be making money, you should be a member of the union." Wally joined local 269 in Harrisburg and was soon offered a road gig in a traveling band.

"When Wally told me he was quitting college and going on the road, I wasn't happy," said Red. "But he did great."

Wally's first stop was Philadelphia where their agent had set the band up to get new suits, and then on to New York for a professional photo shoot and a few club dates. "We were booked in a club in NYC and there were two bands playing alternate sets," said Wally. "That's where I met my wife, then professionally known as Little Jewel. She was playing in the other band. Later she was called Lady Bo."

Lady Bo was the guitar player for Bo Diddley during his rise to fame in the late 50s. She got off the road with him in 1962 to help with her ailing mother, and had been playing locally in the New York area ever since. During this time she fronted one of the biggest bands in New York, The Jewels, and was playing with a travelling band called The King's Paupers when she met Wally. "We would fly to see each other in our off times," said Wally, "Eventually she got a gig as the house singer and guitar player at a club up in Boston. I quit the band I was in, went to Boston, and we got married. That's when we started our career together."

While in Boston, they met a band from New Orleans who were touring as The American Soul Train Review. They were known as The Boogie Kings in the South, but the booking agent didn't like the name. The Boogie Kings asked Lady Bo and Wally to join their band, and they spent the next six months performing all over Louisiana and Texas. "We were recently inducted into the Louisiana Hall of Fame," said Wally, "Everybody who played with The Boogie Kings has had that honor."

After a few personnel changes, it was time to leave The Boogie Kings. With encouragement from Lady Bo's previous drummer, George Ostrander, they drove out to San Jose in the spring of 1969. "George was in a band in the hippie movement called Throckmorton," said Wally. "They had a hippie commune type of house on 5th street, the house they talk about from the hippie days when Ken Kesey was in San Jose. We stayed there for a month or so until we found a place." They formed a trio and began working casuals. "It was a unique environment for us," said Wally. "I was used to the type of bands that all dressed up." Wally eventually grew his hair and took on the persona of the Sly and the Family Stone style of the time.

"In 1969, we went to the Fillmore when Bo Diddley was playing," said Wally. "That was the reunion; she hadn't seen him since 1962. We did a few Fillmore shows with him, and then started travelling all over." Lady Bo and Wally continued with Bo Diddley until the early 90s.

RED

From Harrisburg, Red moved to Louisville, Kentucky, where they have the Kentucky Derby. "I loved it," said Red. "You could make a ton of money in Louisville playing drums. I played with a band called The Rascals of Ragtime. We played at the track every morning, Monday through Thursday, during derby week. On Friday we played near the betting windows. On Wednesdays in the afternoon we put on bandanas and cowboy hats and became the Swinging Cowboy band. We'd get all the big stars from Nashville, like Johnny Cash. The ragtime band became a cowboy band, all union, all good musicians."

After Louisville, Red moved to Kansas City, MS, where he played in a local Dixieland band. In 1982, he followed Wally to San Jose, and eventually settled in Boulder Creek. "I started a Dixieland band," said Red. "I had the top musicians in the area. We travelled to Oregon, LA, Arizona, and New Mexico."

Red also started a big band, Esquire, which played at the Mount Madonna Inn the first Sunday of every month for 12 years. "Eventually, non-union bands came and said they'd play for free," said Red. "So they started splitting up the Sundays and I told them I quit. People kept calling me, 'when are you coming back?' I never went back. The place closed soon after that."

During the 80s and 90s, Red became involved in the former Santa Cruz Local 346, holding several officer positions, including Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer. He was instrumental in creating

Wally and Bo Diddley, Germany, 1987

MPTF gigs in the area, including Wednesday night summer gigs in Capitola, which have since gone non-union. He continues to attend AFM conventions and plans to attend the next Western Conference which will be held in San Jose in 2015. Both Red and Wally are past Presidents of the Western Conference of Musicians.

"I was never late to a job, I was always the early guy," said Red. I believe that's the only way to be when you're a drummer, because you have to set up. At my age, it was getting so I couldn't set them up anymore without breaking my back, so this Christmas I sold my drums. I sat and cried for half an hour."

Jamming room at the 2013 AFM Convention. "I'm what you call a jazz geezer," said Red. "A jazz geezer is someone who knows a thousand tunes written from 1930 to 1945, and forgot 500 of them."

These days Red keeps a minimal kit, snare, ride cymbal, brushes and sticks, and plays in senior homes. "We do the old tunes and they love it," said Red. "I bring a five piece band plus a girl singer, and we do one set and go home. Senior places do not want you all night."

WALLY

In 1987, Wally and Lady Bo went on tour with Bo Diddley. "It was the biggest thing we ever did," said Wally." 35 dates in 30 days, in 9 countries. We also recorded a concert documentary for Swedish television. It was released worldwide and is still available on Youtube." After the tour, Wally decided to get a day job so he would not have to play every gig that came along just to put food on the table. "When you're a full time musician, you're working at all levels," said Wally. "To stay at a higher level, and to help my wife's career, I figured it would be better if I had other income. It worked. Of course we were still playing with Bo Diddley during that time."

Wally became active on the Local 153 Board during a desperate time in the locals history when it was about to fold. "A group of active working musicians instituted the Last Chance Coalition and voted all new people into office," said Wally. "I was encouraged by Local 153 member, Med Daugherty, to start attending the board meetings. We turned the Local around and saved it."

In 1993, Wally became Secretary-Treasurer. He was also elected to the Board of the Santa Cruz Local, which helped in the merging process. The San Leandro and Monterey Locals were merged soon after. "The merges were good," said Red. "We lost a couple members, but we didn't lose many."

In 1996, Wally was elected as Local 153's first fulltime president. During this time he was heavily involved in the AFM regionalization meetings, and starting the Bay Area-wide musicians referral service. Wally says 153 was considered one of the most progressive locals in the country at that time.

Wally continued to play local and fly out gigs, including a three year run with the show Tony & Tina's Wedding. He started a bass ensemble called Bassed On Jazz, and still holds regular bass player get-togethers. In 2004, Wally was offered the Trustee position for the Reno Local 368, and then the AFM Western Representative position in 2006.

For the future, Wally hopes to tour a little more. In the meantime, he's learning to sing jazz tunes and play upright while doing it. "Lady Bo was just offered a gig in Texas in November, and we always go to New Orleans and do the Ponderosa Stomp. In June I'm playing with a Fleetwood Mac tribute band called Rumours, so I still do an occasional one here and there."

Both Wally and Red agree that the Local 153 and Local 6 merge is a good thing. "If you go from Marin down to Carmel, it's a working area, not just a bunch of farm land," said Wally. "With the merge, we're now close to 2,000 members. I think that makes us a stronger union."

Red: I will never leave the union until the day I die. Wally: Especially now that he has a $2,000 death benefit...

The Union acquires certificates of deposit with the most favorable rates available at the time of purchase through its securities to before or through fritten perchase from banks. The Union held; $200,000 in certificates of deposits with maturities greater than 90 days but less than one year. Note 2 - Certificates of Deposit

The Union also held $924,000 in certificates of deposit with maturities greater than one year, Most maturity dates on the certificates of deposit which will be held to maturity are between 2014 and 2023.

Certificate of deposit values charge with the underlying market interest rates. Therefore at any given time prior to maturity the market values of the certificates will vary from the original purchase cost. In the event the Union would meet to access the funds the directificates prior on maturity, the Union would recognize a gain of 10s of principal based on the market rate change. Note 9 - Health Reimbursement Arrangement

Beginning in 2007, the Board of Directors adopted a Health Reimbursement Arrangement (HRA) to provide benth breaffs to Union staff not covered by the Office and Portisessional Branjovese Union Plan. During 2013, salighted single individuals were allowed to GY00 of monthly credits and staff with families were allowed S1,125 of monthly credits. These amounts are credited to memo book "accounts" for health insurance and qualified medical expenses.

The HRA provides for reimbursoment of substantiated, qualified, medical and dental care expenses incurred by employees, their spouses, domestic partners, and dependents. Reimbursements are not included in the employee's taxable income.

At the end of a calendar year, employees may carry forward up to $1,000 of nnused credits to the following year. The total amounts carried forward as of December 31,201 were $75.0A, at the following year. The total amounts carried forward as of December 31,201 were $75.0A, at the line discretion of the Beard of Directors, the plan permits participants suffering catastrophic illness to have limited access to nnused credits from the previous five calendar years. The assets designated for this plan are not segregated from operations, and except for catastrophic illness, cannot exceed the credited 'book' balances.

The Union's hy-laws establish a $2,000 death benefit for eligible members in good standing. Additionally, the by-laws designate and eggegate an timinam of $200,000 for the payment of this benefit or the purchase of twop life insurance for this purpose. In July 2004, the Union's insurance currier prematurely terminated its two year rate agreement and imposed a 130% premium increase effective August 1, 2004. As a result of this proposed insurance occi increase, the Union began self-insuring death benefits on August 1, 2004, Due to the difficulty in obtaining reasonable cost insurance, management expects the Union will self-insure this obligation for the foreseeable future.

Accumulated death benefit receipts from members that exceed $200,000 may be used for general purposes if approved by a woch-indro who of a quoman an official membership meeting. In the absence of a quoman and official membership meeting. In the absence of a quoman, approved may be by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Directors. The death benefit and designation of death benefit funds may be ended by a vote of the membership.

No actuarial determination has been made of the assets or revenues required to meet the current and projected death benefit obligations.

Note 7 - Payroll Audits

The Union obtained cost estimates in 2003 to purchase earthquake insurance on the headquarters building located at 116 Ninth Street in San Francisco, California Based on those extinates management has carried that it is prohibitively expense to purchase earthquake insurance and in view of this, none is carried.

Note 5 – Earthquake Insurance

Note 6 - Death Benefit Arrangements

There are no post-employment benefits.

Note 10 - Unpaid Expenses

As of December 31, 2013, the Union had no significant unpaid expenses other than the 'per capita' dues of $26,222 for the quarter ended December 31, 2013. Four quarters of payments were made during 2013, had the change in reporting periods several-years ago required the Union to pay for members in good standing through calcular quarter ends. Therefore the membership census cannot be completed until after the quarter end, resulting in the payment in the following period.

Note 11 - Concentration of Credit Risk

The Union maintains cash, money market funds, and certificate of deposit accounts with banks, savings associations, and a bodecage firm. The bank account balances and certificates of deposit are muned by the Eederal Deposit laurance Corporation up to a limit of $250,000 per depositor and per bank issuer. Savings and loan associations are instead for similar amounts by a sinitial government agency. The obsterage firm that private deposit instructe protecting accounts against failure of the brokerage firm for $500,000. Market losses in socurities and/or certificates of deposit are not covered by the insurance.

The Union attempts to limit any financial exposure, however, its cash balances at a single financial mutulou may at times exceed the insured limits. The Union has not experienced losses in cash, money market, and certificate of deposit accounts and management does not currently helieve it is exposed to any significant credit risk on such investments.

Note 12 - Significant Events

The Union entered into an agreement with the Local 153 from San Jose, CA to merge the two locals into the Local 6 effective January 1, 2014. As of the end of 2013, the Local 6 and Local 153 had addressed all the issues regarding the merger and were ready to operate as planned beginning in 2014.

Elephant Ivory Update

Excerpts from a letter by AFM President, Ray Hair

On Thursday, May 15, 2014, US Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) Director Daniel Ashe amended a February 25, 2014 Order which placed immediate and unprecedented new travel restrictions on persons traveling with items having component parts of African Ivory. The original Order adversely and substantially affected any musician now seeking to travel abroad with musical instruments containing components fashioned in whole or in part from African elephant ivory. The amended Order came about as a result of the tireless work by the AFM and other interested stakeholders to persuade both the executive and legislative branches of government that relief to the problems musicians now face as a result of the Order should be implemented on an expedited basis. Unfortunately, the amended Order falls short of a comprehensive solution for reasons illustrated below.

Though the amended Order provides some relief because it now exempts musical instruments transferred from one person to another prior to the new date of February 14, 2014, USFWS has NOT provided clearer guidance on how to traverse the CITES permit process. Specifically, the > amended Order continues to invoke Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species (CITES) permit regulations. The Service still requires the following requirements be met before you can safely travel in and out of the US with a musical instrument containing African elephant ivory. It now requires that:

- 1. The ivory contained in the instrument was legally acquired prior to February 26, 1976;
- 2. The instrument must not have subsequently been transferred from one person to another person for financial gain or profit since February 25, 2014;
- 3. The person or group qualifies for a CITES musical instrument certificate;
- 4. The musical instrument containing African elephant ivory must be accompanied by a valid CITES musical instrument certificate or an equivalent CITES document.

Number 4 above is the big rub. Musicians will still need to produce ownership documents in order to apply for an official CITES certificate or passport. Unfortunately, oftentimes a bill of sale and/or documents that certify the instrument's content or "pedigree" and proving time of purchase are almost impossible to ascertain.

Steve Dinion

Local 6 mourns the loss of brother Steve Dinion, Secretary-Treasurer of Local 677, Honolulu, Hawaii. Steve passed away on Tuesday, May 13, 2014 after losing a very short battle with Lymphoma. He was a fierce social justice advocate, a great steward of the Local and an avid activist for musicians. Donations in Steve's memory may be made to Pride at Work, Hawaii Peace & Justice, Hawaii People's Fund and/or Live Music Awareness.

Stephen Dinion was impressive on the stage behind his timpani, and transformative as a union leader, but his real secret was his willingness to work. And work. And work. This was who Steve was; a can-do person who got it done. Even if he had to do it himself.

New Book Explores San Francisco's Twin Peaks History

Lynn Oakley, local author and Local 6 member, pens new book using vintage images to share history

Twin Peaks resident Lynn Oakley, whose grandparents were early settlers on Twin Peaks, relates the history of this area from the Ohlone Indians and early Spanish settlers to the mid-20th century. The story of how Twin Peaks has developed while retaining its natural beauty and allure is enhanced with marvelous photographs from local residents, collectors, and the author's own collection.

San Francisco's Twin Peaks

by Lynn Oakley Images of America Series Price: $21.99 128 pages/softcover Available at area bookstores, independent retailers, and online retailers, or through Arcadia Publishing at (888) 313-2665. www.arcadiapublishing.com

The newest addition to Arcadia Publishing's popular Images of America series is San Francisco's Twin Peaks by author Lynn Oakley. The book boasts more than 200 vintage images.

Twin Peaks is located in the geographic center of San Francisco. These distinctive hills are not only recognizable landmarks with spectacular views; they also play a major role in the safety and security of San Franciscans.

Towers on Christmas Tree Point provide a communication support to the police and fire departments. Firmly constructed into the bedrock of Twin Peaks are three massive municipal reservoirs that supply gravity-pulled drinking water and water for fire fighting. Roads and a tunnel were built on, around and through the peaks with the purpose of gaining easier access to the western parts of the city. Farms and homes appeared along Corbett Road and new neighborhoods sprang up on the slopes of Twin Peaks: Midtown Terrace, the Crown, Graystone, Villa Terraces and Clarendon Heights, on which stands Sutro Tower.

Images of America: San Francisco's Twin Peaks showcases vintage images of the Twin Peak's history. By veiwing scenes of the days gone by, readers are able to better understand how the past has shaped San Francisco's current identity.

About the Author of San Francisco's Twin Peaks

Lynn Oakley has lived in San Francisco for the past 46 years. Her mother was a fourth generation San Franciscan and her paternal grandparents settled in San Francisco in the 1940s. Both sets of grandparents lived on Twin Peaks as did the author's parents and now the author.

Oakley is a professional violinist in the Bay Area, performing with such groups as The Lamplighters, Marin Oratorio, Marin Symphony, The Oakland East Bay Symphony and Villa Sinfonia. She also performs weddings and concerts with the Villa Sinfonia string quartet.

She and her violinist husband Roy Oakley have taught numerous students in their private violin studio and twenty years ago they formed an association with other instrumental teachers' studios to establish a 501c 3 non-profit organization called the Villa Sinfonia Foundation, which sponsors two orchestras and several preparatory groups. Students in Villa Sinfonia have performed all over the Bay Area as well as in Europe, Hawaii, Carnegie Hall and the Kennedy Center for the Arts in Washington, D.C.

Oakley has written and self-published two biographies. Moff, the Mayor of Twin Peaks is about her maternal grandfather Edward Raymond Moffit who built the highest house on Twin Peaks in 1920. The second book, Alex Sullens Ritter, An American Success Story, is about her husband's grandfather who started out as a cowboy near Yosemite in the late nineteenth centuray and later became a successful businessman and inventor in Marin County, California.

The research that went into

San Francisco's Twin Peaks fulfilled the author's curiosity about this area that has been such a main part of her family's history. She is hopeful that it will provide insight to the reader about the historical impact of Twin Peaks on the city of San Francisco.

What lasting impact do you hope your book will

Twin Peaks has always been a major landmark of the city of San Francisco. Residents and visitors have admired it from a distance and traveled to it's summit to take in the views. But the reader will find that there is much more to the Peaks. The reservoirs on Twin Peaks are an integral part of the water system of San Francisco. Emissions from the Sutro Tower and Christmas Tree Point towers enhance television and radio transmissions and aid police, fire and other emergency support comunications. And historically, the roads around and the tunnel through Twin Peaks allowed the city to literally double in size.
